CAHN Website Launch

Membership Access

It's with much anticipation that we announce the launch of CAHN's new website. All members will be sent a user name and password with instructions on how to access the Member's Only section of the website where you will find nursing tools such as the End Stage Liver Disease project, Presentations from the CAHN/CASL Education Program, CAHN developed Standards & Competencies, access to our member directory, your member profile, and new features to easily renew your CAHN membership and register for CAHN events. All members are included in the directory as default. If you do not wish to be listed please log in and update your profile to change this option.

Click here to visit www.cahn.ca

If you do not received your access by May 16th, please contact Danae at admin@cahn.ca.

More Features Come

Stay tuned for more features and functionality as we continue to build onto the website and augment the available tools. Your feedback and suggestions are appreciated.

CAHN Participation

CAHN Encourages Member Participation

Share what's happening in your community

Let other members know what's happening in liver health in your community. Send an email to communications@cahn.ca to have your local events promoted in our newsletter.

Share your knowledge

Create a digital poster to share your research and work with other CAHN members. Knowledge sharing is promoted in our newsletter and in the Member's Only section of our website. To participate email communications@cahn.ca.

Nominate for an award

CAHN's Awards Committee has been working hard to revamp how CAHN recognizes members. Check out the awards available and nominate someone you know (or yourself)! Nomination form coming soon.

Solicit sponsors

Is your employer a CAHN sponsor? Would they like to be? Sponsors are featured in our newsletter, on our website, and at various CAHN events. Email sponsorship@cahn.ca for more information.

Join a committee

Volunteering is a wonderful opportunity for professional growth. CAHN is looking for volunteers to help with Standards & Competencies, Conference Planning, Social Media and more. Email membership@cahn.ca.

Become part of the Executive team or Board of Directors

At our next AGM (in 2018) CAHN will be electing two new Board of Directors and appointing for Vice President, Membership East/West, and Conference Planning Co-Chair. Self-nomination is encouraged. Click here for more information.
