

Denise came to the field of HCV from many years in HIV

She came out early in BC as a champion for indigenous HCV care through her education and advocacy in her role with first nations health authority

Early in her hepatology career she become an active member of CAHN – in fact within a couple years of being a member she had joined the executive as vice president

Within a year and a half of being vice president - she graciously accepted the job of being interim president

Denise continues to represent CAHN on the CAITE board

We are so grateful to be able to give /Denise an award for distinguished service to CAHN
